Tilden Marcellus, LLC

Marshlands Area, Tioga County, PA

Canonsburg, PA— May 6, 2019 — Tilden Marcellus, LLC announces the 2019 Capital Program, beginning with completion operations on their five Marcellus drilled and uncompleted wells (DUC's), followed by two Marcellus development wells, and a Utica test located in western Tioga County, PA.

“The completion of these wells will be an immediate uplift for both production and cash flow to the company,” said Sean Wainwright, VP of Operations at Tilden Marcellus, LLC.

Positive Production Growth

As part of a recent acquisition, these five DUC's will transition to Tilden's current completion design to optimize fracture efficiency and minimize interference with existing wells in the area. Tilden's Marshlands area is benefited by both an existing gas gathering system as well as a water distribution system to provide necessary fresh water for completion operations.

“Our experienced team of professionals will be able to leverage our learnings and technical skills to this new asset for the company,” said Wainwright, “Successful completions in the Marcellus and the Utica will help to provide additional learnings and aid in confirming the current success enjoyed with our current well design.”

2019 Expanded Activity

2019 Expanded Activity in June, with plans to drill additional Marcellus development wells later this year. In addition, the company is evaluating a possible Utica test in the Marshland area for this year. “Results from our initial evaluation activity show significant Utica potential” said Wainwright.
